The SKBoot is the new winter holiday must have. This smart, sophisticated bag is roomy enough for a pair of ski or snowboard boots, helmet, clothing and even a laptop.

Forget about trying to squeeze your ski boots and helmet into a standard suitcase, or lugging a flimsy ski bag or backpack awkwardly through the airport, hotel, etc. The SKBoot is the new winter holiday must have. This smart, sophisticated bag is roomy enough for a pair of ski or snowboard boots, helmet, clothing and even a laptop. But unlike other ski bags, the SKBoot is outfitted with manoeuvrable wheels, making getting to and from the slopes easy and shoulder-pain free.

SKBoot's founder and Head Designer, Caroline Graham, developed the bag after searching all over the world for a better way to carry her ski boots.

I found that I couldn't physically carry my ski boots in the boot bags that are currently available as they were too heavy and awkward.

I knew what I wanted – a ski boot bag on wheels that was smart, practical and looked good, which would fit my not only my ski boots and helmet, but my ski clothing, accessories – and my laptop as well. I wanted a bag that kept all my gear together, was easy to travel with, and in the off-season, could be used as a storage case. That idea became the SKBoot, Caroline said.

The SKBoot comes in two sizes and features six storage compartments including an easy-access main ski boot storage zone, two side pockets, a removable padded laptop/document sleeve, fur lined goggle pouch and a removable wet storage bag with carry straps. Another great feature is zippered air vents so your ski gear is kept in the best possible storage conditions all year long.

SKBoot is located in Park City, Utah. For more information about and images of the SKBoot bag, please visit www.skboot.com.
